

CHICKEN CO-OP

Luxury Chicken Living

THE REVOLUTION

The chicken coop represents a complete re-thinking of the urban life of chickens. The renowned architects at RAAD have employed the finest materials and latest technologies to generate a unique vision through design.

Maximally efficient usage of material and assembly forms graceful living spaces for modern chickens. Flat stacking components are prefabricated by computer-driven routers. Each major component panel represents one necessary aspect of urban chicken life. With basic tools, the residence can be assembled using in less than one day.

Cutting edge design approaches place the Co-op at the forefront of sustainable building. All residences utilize passively heating and cooling systems. Solar power drives a fan to supplement passive systems throughout the summer. Hens are able to maximize their yield and productivity in optimal comfort year-round.

THE BUILDING

The Chicken Co-Op is constructed of routed exterior grade plywood and acrylic sheets. Then it is painted for long lasting durability.
